Jewish Heritage Tour

DURATION	AVAILABILITY	DEPARTURES FROM
3 hours	every day	Warsaw

Before WW II, Warsaw had one of the greatest numbers of Jewish inhabitants in the world. Although their heritage was almost annihilated by the Germans in 1944, when almost all of central Warsaw became a field of rubble, there are still several hidden traces of Jewish culture and history. The tour leads through the now somewhat somber business districts, but proves very elucidating for everybody interested in one of the most tragic events of the past century.

During the tour you will see the Monument to the Ghetto Heroes (where the German chancellor Willy Brandt unexpectedly knelt down in 1970), Zamenhofa Street, the remains of Nalewki Street which once teemed with business life, Mila Street (including the bunker where the commander of the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising, Mordechai Anielewicz, committed suicide), the Umschlagplatz Wall (from where 300,000 people were deported in cattle trucks for Treblinka death camp in 1942), enter the the only remaining synagogue in Warsaw – Nozyk Synagogue, the Jewish Theatre (the only professional Yiddish-language theatre in Europe), the Jewish Cemetery (where Zamenhof, the creator of Esperanto language, is buried), and the former Orphanage of Dr. Janusz Korczak who refused to be saved and accompanied his Jewish children to meet their death in Treblinka.

After the sightseeing tour, we recommend to extend your knowledge by a visit in Museum of the History of Polish Jews POLIN, Jewish Historical Institute or by choosing one of the following destination:
– former extermination camp in Treblinka
– Gora Kalwaria, which was one of the major centers of Hasidic Judaism
